Sintese

Brutalist architecture, from daily coexistence with modernist works that crudely reveal concrete.

Pure, just the concrete. Concrete and its marks. The surface.
The material. The Synthesis.

A route of projects from Masp to corporate buildings by Slovak architect Hans Broos, which includes the original Parque Portobello Building and Hering Building in Santa Catarina, made it possible to dive into this architectural language and its marks, printed on concrete.

Arquitectura brutalista, de la convivencia cotidiana con obras modernistas que revelan crudamente el concreto.

Puro, solamente el concreto. El concreto y sus marcas. La superficie.
La materia. La síntesis.

Un guión de proyectos desde Masp hasta edificios corporativos del arquitecto eslovaco Hans Broos, que incluyen el edificio original del Parque Portobello y el de la Compañía Hering en Santa Catarina, permitió profundizar en ese lenguaje arquitectónico y sus huellas impresas en el concreto.

Sintese

Archeology as design. The evidence revealed was a reference for the process. Every trace, every crack, every reaction with the steel, every impression of a wooden shape. Finally, a Synthesis. Of design, of technology, of a look that selects and refines.

Sintese is the new Portobello material. Unshakable in revealing herself pure.

Arqueología como diseño. Las evidencias reveladas fueron un referente para el proceso. Cada trazo, cada grieta, cada reacción con el acero, cada impresión de una forma de madera. Al final, una síntesis. De diseño, de tecnología, de una mirada que selecciona y refina.

Sintese es la nueva materia de Portobello. Inquebrantable al revelarse pura.
